

'MY IDENTITIES'

IDENTITY CARD GAME

Arrange students in small groups around a table with a set of twelve cards spread out in the centre. Students' aim is to create their own 'identities' profile. They need to choose the five cards that they feel are the most important for saying something about their own identities.

Cards chosen, together with explanatory comments, could be recorded [for example using a table format] to create individual profiles.

Once each person has created their profile, they are to be shared and discussed in groups, with students giving reasons for their choices.

A debrief of this activity could explore further the idea of our 'multiple identities'.

Gender

Religion

Occupation

Nationality

Hobbies/interests

Political viewpoint

Where I live/associate myself with

My culture

Outlook on life

Where my parents are from

Ethnicity